A MESSAGE FROM OUR PRESIDENT

In 2012, when The Wall Street Journal published “Why Can’t We Sell Charity Like We Sell Perfume?” by activist and humanitarian Dan Pallotta, the nonprofit world took notice. Dan argued that if we let philanthropies operate like businesses – paying for talent, aggressively advertising, and taking fundraising risks – then capitalism could cause non-profits to be more effective and accomplish more good in the world.

Phil Buchanan displayed quite a different viewpoint in his book, Giving Done Right. Phil counters that counseling nonprofits to operate like a business is confusing and runs counter to achieving impact. He argues that giving effectively necessitates a different level of collaboration and relationship-building, deep humility, and a recognition of how difficult it is to do good well – harder than building wealth.

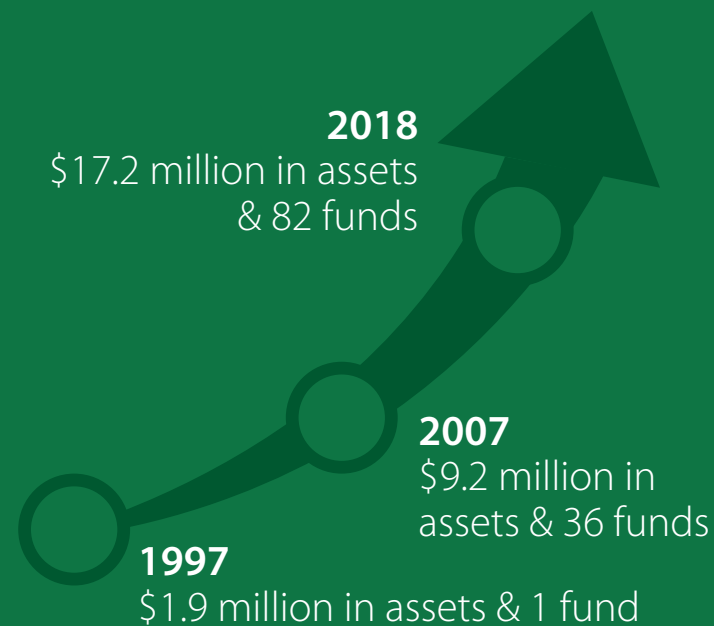

Whichever opinion you may or may not buy into, the three organizations that oversee the nonprofit world – BBB Wise Giving Alliance, GuideStar, and Charity Navigator – released an open letter in 2013 regarding the overhead myth. They wrote that decisions about which charities to support should NOT be based on the percent of expenses that go to administrative and fundraising costs (overhead), but on their transparency, governance, leadership and results. They agreed with the Stanford Social Innovation Review that focusing on overhead creates “The Nonprofit Starvation Cycle,” starving charities of the freedom they need to produce high performance. And they cited extensive research to back up their statements. Further, their second open letter in 2014 was directed towards charities themselves – encouraging them to help end the overhead myth by demonstrating ethical practice and sharing data, managing towards results, and helping educate funders/donors on the real cost of results.

If I may be so bold, I would add that there’s one more way that would help make a difference: that nonprofits start asking for, and donors start giving to, charities’ UNRESTRICTED budget. From unrestricted monies comes funding for expenses that allow charities to sustain and improve themselves – expenses like training, planning, evaluation, internal systems, fundraising expenses, and yes, even that not so exciting, but ever so necessary, electric bill. YOUR community foundation, for example, used an unrestricted bequest gift in 2018 (from the estate of local resident Dorothy Leuthold) to help NCSC’s Crawford Success Center start an LPN program. This donation, as all of our competitive grants, came from the Foundation’s unrestricted fund. And surely having the Crawford Success Center in our community – and their LPN program – is one of the reasons Crawford County had a 2% increase (10.5% - 12.2%) in our education attainment level from 2015-2018.

In closing, the nonprofit world and making donations in general can be complicated. The nonprofit industry is one leg of a three-legged stool that supports American society as we know it – along with the public and private sectors. We charities are the eyes, ears and conscience of society. So the next time you hear philanthropy being criticized, remind the critic that giving has done much towards what makes our country great, as well as contributed to improve the human condition worldwide. THANK YOU for choosing to support your community foundation. Together, we’re making a difference!

Regards,
Lisa Workman
CFRE, President

Notable Crawford Countian - Laretta Schimmoler came to own a poultry business after working at a chicken hatchery in New Washington. After becoming a licensed pilot in 1929, she became the first woman in the U.S. to establish and operate an airport (Bucyrus). A colleague of Emilia Earhart, in 1944 Laretta was commissioned to operate the Aerial Nurse Corps, training registered nurses to parachute into battlefields to administer life-saving aid to injured soldiers. Her feat is captured in the patriotic film, Parachute Nurse. Later, she became the first woman to command an American Legion post.

The Tracks of Time – At one time, the Pennsylvania and New York Central Railroads were the nation's largest, and they intersected in Crestline. Crestline was a major repair center for the Pennsylvania, which necessitated a passenger station equipped with a hotel, restaurants and shops. In 1968, the two rival railroads merged to form the Penn Central Transportation Company, and it filed for bankruptcy within two years.

No Alcohol - The first Prohibition Convention in the U.S. was held in Crestline on April 18, 1869. This curbside display on Seltzer Street in Crestline asked a good question, as ten dollars would buy two bottles of whiskey or a whole stack of groceries.

Rainbow over Bucyrus – A welcome sight after the rain. In 2019, we endured so much rain, flooding, extreme cold and a polar vortex that the USDA designated Crawford County and 40 other OH counties a natural disaster designation for their losses. Rainbows are the universal symbol of peace and harmony.

Back to School – 2020 is the 5th anniversary of the opening of the Crawford Success Center in Bucyrus, a satellite of North Central State College. Like the State of Ohio, Crawford County is working to increase its education attainment level. From 2015-2019, our county's education attainment level grew from 10.5% to 12.6%. This translates to higher household income, an increased tax base, improved infrastructure and quality of life, and makes living here better for us all.

Notable Crawford Countian – Crestline native Mike Gottfried served as head football coach at Murray State, Cincinnati, Kansas and Pittsburgh. His total record as a college head football coach is 77-54-6, and more than 35 of his players were recruited to the NFL. After 17 years as a football analyst and commentator for ESPN, Gottfried then founded Team Focus with his wife, Mickey. Team Focus mentors and supports fatherless boys throughout the country. Today he lives in Mobile, AL, where he helped found the GMAC Bowl.

Lowe Volk Park – Hiking here includes these steps which lead nature explorers to the Sandusky River. Many students have descended these stairs to find the creatures that make this river their home- knowing that the more diverse the creatures found, the healthier the river. In this park, the Sandusky River starts its 130-mile journey to the Sandusky Bay.

Veterans remembered – Local veteran Dan Dornbirer created this rendering to commemorate the Battle of Iwo Jima. Dan was inspired to remember those who served in the past, along with current military service personnel. Each Veterans and Memorial Day, this depiction can be viewed at the corner of Highways 19/100 and Spore Brandywine Road on the Old Paths Baptist Church lawn. Dan is also pastor there.

Come Home to Galion – This is not your typical gingerbread man, as this one is made of ice! Ice sculptures, carriage rides, tree lighting, Santa, a parade – it's all part of the holiday celebration at the annual Come Home to Galion event. Galion is the only city in the U.S. by that name, and it is located in three counties: Crawford, Morrow and Richland.

COMMUNITY LEGACY

Thank you to the following contributors that have arranged a planned gift to the Foundation. A planned gift is a contribution that a person decides to give at some future date, either a number of years from now or at death. There are many kinds of planned gifts, including but not limited to: bequests in a will, a trust, or an estate plan; charitable gift annuities; retirement funds; charitable remainder trusts; life estate contracts; charitable lead trusts; pooled income funds; life insurance; and non-cash assets and assets transferred using pay-on-death or transfer-on-death documents.
